

My Body,

My Book!

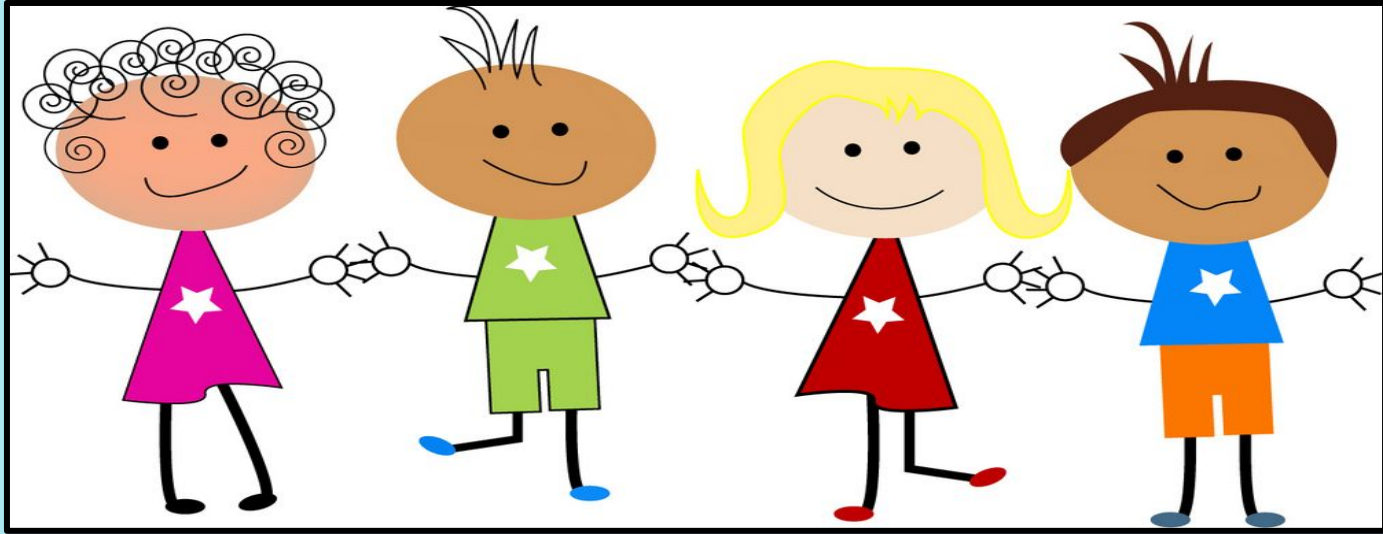

This is my body,

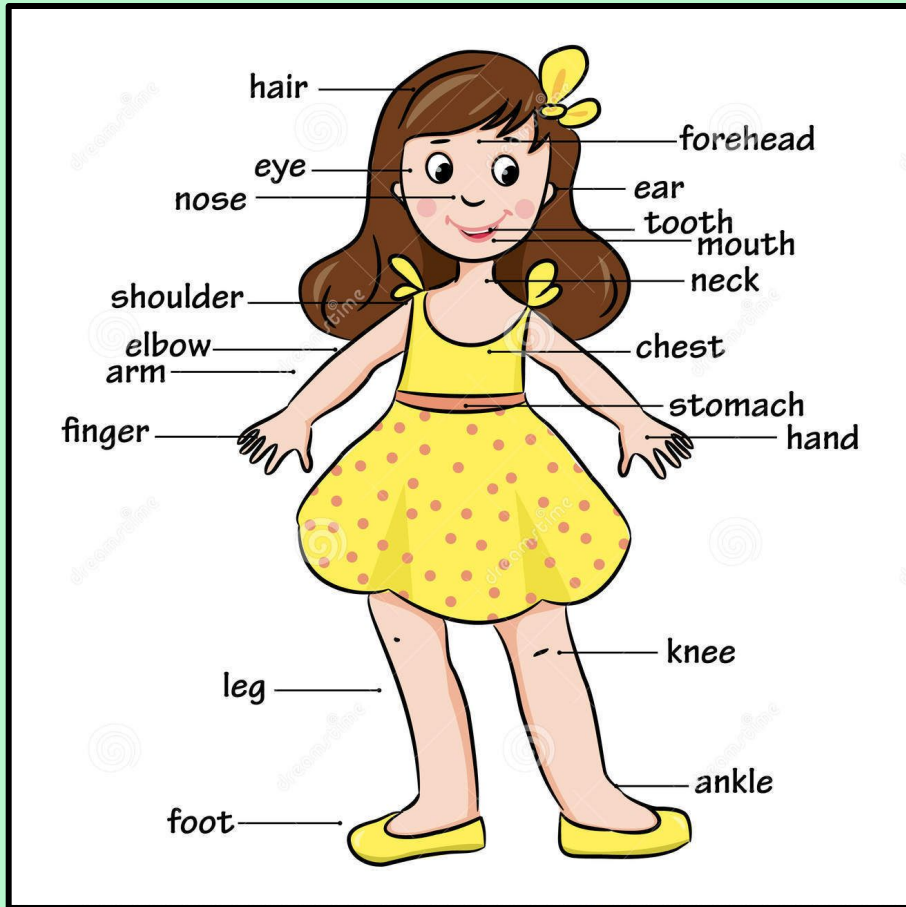

and this is my book!

My body can do lots of cool things!

Bodies come in lots of different sizes, shapes, and colors.

Bodies have lots
of important
parts like eyes,
ears, fingers,
and toes!

But, there are even more body parts that are just as important for me to know about!

Some people call these body parts by other names:

privates

ding-dong

boobies

winkie

cookie

willy

Bathing suit parts

wee-wee

weiner

hoo-ha

But it is better to call them by their real names!

Girls have BREASTS and a VAGINA.

Girls are born with a vagina and breasts grow when girls get older.

Boys have a PENIS
and TESTES.

Testes are called a TESTICLE when you're only talking about one.

Boys and girls have a BUTT and an ANUS.

The butt is a muscle and the
anus is where poop comes from!

These parts of my body are important,
but they are private and should stay
covered up when I am playing at the park or at school.

Sometimes, it feels good to touch these parts of my body, but I should only do that when I am at home and there are not other people around.

The only other people who should touch these parts of my body are the people taking care of me like my parents, teachers, and doctors. They should only touch me when I need help or don't feel good!

My body is very special and all of its parts are what make me me!
